Mount Kisco Child Care Center (MKCCC) recently hosted its Eighth Annual "Feed Me Fresh: An Edible Evening" at Eric Hadar's beautiful Ivanna Farms, located in Bedford Corners.

Guests enjoyed the breezy autumn evening as they dabbled in tastings from more than 20 of Westchester's most notable restaurants and farms. Proceeds from Feed Me Fresh will be used to provide invaluable scholarship assistance to children enrolled at MKCCC.

The event honored local community advocates Frances and Isidoro Albanese and Curtis Beusman. MKCCC recognizes these individuals for their admirable commitment to giving back to the northern Westchester community and for supporting MKCCC in its efforts to provide educational programs which promote a healthy lifestyle among students and their families.

The event was co-chaired by Chappaqua resident Clark Robson and White Plains resident Phyllis Herz. Longtime Katonah resident and esteemed actor John Bedford Lloyd served as the evening's master of ceremonies.

MKCCC is located at 95 Radio Circle in Mount Kisco. For more information, call 914-241-2135 or visit MKCCC.org.
